Might as well be a consulting firm. This only cements in my mind that the entire Equity program is a front loaded scam that never originated from the public but sure is going to be laid on them without their participation.

Please obtain.....if you can.....the names of all the people who are considered stakeholders (about 80+), their organization affiliation, and.....as long as we're discussing Critical Race Theory.....race. There can be no push back since race is all important so let's start addressing that right now. Not that many years ago we used to call "black and brown" people "coloreds" or "colored people" but that became taboo as we went to black, African-American, etc. Yet today CRT refers to them as "people of color" without blinking an eye. Wonder how CRT supporters would respond if we went back to the old, formerly taboo terms? Perhaps the best way to combat CRT is start rubbing its supporters' noses in it and see how they like it.

Hi Paul:

I noticed in the equity video a "stakeholder" ALT. What is that? I suspected a consulting firm or other "expert" on critical race theory. Let me know. I want to pursue that regarding the Delphi Protocol raised by Charlie Hoff.
